

Nonprofit Services

Making a difference is not only an expression for nonprofit agencies, but also one that Mauldin & Jenkins embraces. As nonprofit auditing, compliance, and tax planning experts, we understand there is more to business than just the bottom line – it's about helping people and improving communities. We are committed to supporting the causes of nonprofits by contributing our time, talents and other resources.

Since 1918, the professionals at Mauldin & Jenkins have worked with a diverse mix of nonprofit organizations by providing auditing, compliance and tax services. Mauldin & Jenkins' approach to client relationships is simple; we act as a key resource to give our clients the power to succeed and to accomplish their mission statements. We focus on your financial needs so you can concentrate on making a difference.

Mauldin & Jenkins is responsive to its clients by providing continuous service at the highest possible level throughout the year. Our resources are well developed and our team is trained in nonprofit auditing, accounting and tax issues. Close partner involvement on engagements is designed to provide our clients with top professional service.

The South is known for its active charitable organizations, with more than 20,000 in Georgia and Alabama alone. Many of these organizations generate enough revenue to require an annual 990 tax return. We spend time with you on tax planning issues that are unique to nonprofit agencies.

Mauldin & Jenkins has extensive experience auditing under Governmental Auditing Standards, Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) audit guidelines, and the Single Audit Act. Our healthcare expertise and understanding of Federal and State reimbursement can be a substantial asset to your nonprofit organization if you operate in the healthcare arena.

Our nonprofit professionals have expertise in working with agencies such as civic groups, hospitals, long-term healthcare facilities, medical foundations, legal services programs, university foundations, and other voluntary, health and welfare organizations.

The range of services we provide for nonprofits includes:

- Audits, reviews, compilations
- Federal A-133 audits
- Department of Housing and Urban Development audits
- Employee benefit plan administration
- Form 990 and 990-T tax planning/return preparation
- Retirement plan audits
- Educating board members on their fiscal responsibilities

Mauldin & Jenkins is committed to keeping current in the latest accounting standards and assisting our nonprofit clients in meeting their unique financial reporting needs.
